While in Edmonton the students visited various industries, such as Swift's Packing Plant, Oil Refinery, and Coca-Cola Limited. The Legislative Buildings will be one of the highlights and on the lighter side they are anticipating a visit to Queen Elizabeth Park and a cool swim, weather permitting. In the line of sports there will be the harness races at the Exhibition Grounds and a baseball game between the Edmonton Eskimos and the Wanatchee Chiefs.

Reservations were made at the Clock and Twin Birch Auto Courts. Members of the staff accompanying the students are Mrs. L. Tkachuk, F. McMillan and A. D. Selinger. Students' Council assisting the teachers include: Nick Uganecz, president, Olga Bakay, treasurer, and Helen Luba, secretary.

Local Girl Marries Edmonton Man

LAC LA BICHE—The St. Catherine's Roman Catholic Church was the scene of a recent wedding, when Elda, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Varze, became the bride of Mr. Gerald Demers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Demers, of Edmonton. Rev. Father McGrane officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of white lace, chapel veil, and carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. She was attended by Miss Dianne Young of Edmonton, as maid of honor, who wore a ballerina gown of mauve net, and Miss Goldie Simpson of Edmonton, who was attired in a ballerina gown of yellow net. Both girls carried identical colonial bouquets.

The groom was attended by Mr. Peter Gunn of Edmonton. Witnesses to the marriage were Mary Varze and Roger Varze.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Varze, with the mother of the groom assisting in greeting the guests. For the occasion Mrs. Varze chose a dress of green, with black accessories, and wore a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Demers wore a suit of cherry red, with natural accessories and a corsage of white roses. A dance was held in the evening at the Memorial Hall.

Out-of-town guests included

Mr. and Mrs. M. Demers of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Pratt, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Ramage of Edmonton.

Homestead Lease Changes By H. LOBAY

LAC LA BICHE—In the northern part of the province where there is still a lot of land available for homestead lease, the changes in the Lands Act affecting homesteads will be welcomed by the ones on homesteads already as well as by new applicants.

We want to see the lands settled and we want to see the conditions made attractive to the settlers.

Since land clearing and breaking by hand and horses is almost gone away with, it is all done with bulldozers and power machinery, it is not always necessary to perform residence duties on that land from the beginning. Many a new homesteader may be somewhere employed making enough to hire the equipment to open up his land possibly for the first three years. Since crop share is not payable for the first three years it is not now necessary to perform residence duties till the fourth and fifth years with six months of each year.

The act was also made uniform in the breaking and crop requirements. Vicinity residence has been increased from three to five miles.

These and other amendments regarding homestead leases substantially modify the duties of the lessee.

RCAF Searchers Near Lost Planes' Graveyard

EDMONTON (BUP) — The air force said last week that at least four aircraft are believed to have crashed in a mysterious "graveyard of lost planes" discovered by a saddle-sore RCAF search party stumbling through wilderness 6,000 feet up the slopes of the Rocky mountains.

The group, weary after three days of battling through dense timber on borrowed cow ponies, planned to ford the Porcupine river to press deeper into the uncharted country.

The airmen lost all contact with daring pilots of low-flying planes Thursday when their walkie-talkie ground-to-air radio set failed, but the RCAF was to make another attempt to drop more clues and supplies to the men, led by a forest ranger and Flt.-Lt. Don Blunderfield of Okotoks, Alta.

We have a bewildering set of clues to other air crashes in the rough terrain," a spokesman for the air search and rescue flight here said. "We hope to get these new reports to the ground party so they can do their best to check on them."

The Investigators were headed for the junction of the Kawka River and Copton Creek, where an

How long does an oil well last?

The average well goes dry in 20 to 30 years. To keep your car rolling and your home warm, a new well must be found to take its place. That's why the search for oil never ends; why Imperial, for instance, spent almost $50 millions to find and develop new oil in western Canada last year.

Oil has become one of Canada's important industries. How many of these questions about it can you answer?

Which of the following contain petroleum lipstick? binder twine?
printing ink? insect spray?

Oil is a part of all the products named and of hundreds of others which contribute to our everyday living.

In 1946 Canada produced less than 10% of the oil she used. How much of her needs does she produce now 18%? 40%? 55%?

About 40%—and we use twice as much as in 1946. Today's production would meet 80% of the demand at that time.

How many service stations would you say Imperial operates across Canada 19,500? 10,000? 0?

None. Approximately 10,000 stations carry the Imperial Esso sign, but they are operated by independent dealers, each in business for himself.

To what amount, would you say, have the people of Alberta benefited through oil industry payments to the provincial government for royalties, leases and bonuses.
$25 millions? $175 millions? $83 millions?

Since the discovery of Leduc in 1947, oil royalty, lease and bonus payments to the government total more than $175 millions.

Opinion surveys show that most Canadians believe a business is entitled to a profit of 15¢ on a dollar of revenue. Last year Imperial earned 7 1/2¢? 11¢? 19¢?

In 1952 Imperial earned a profit of 7 1/2¢ of each dollar received. Of this, 4¢ was paid to shareholders; the remaining 3 1/2¢ was used to replace worn-out equipment and to make sure we can supply your future oil needs!

ARE YOU FULLY COVERED?

In a case like this the Farmer might "give you the bird," if your Insurance doesn't fully cover.

This was some time ago: one year summer when my sister and I were girls. So it was one day my sister's boy friend came over and they were both leaving to attend a sports day being held in another town and my sister told me she wouldn't be present at our home town to watch a baseball practise as we previously planned. With this in mind, my brother and I went ourselves. After watching the game for awhile I decided to go around the other side. As I was almost settled to watch again I noticed my sister standing in front a little ways, so I walked up quietly behind her and pulled her hat over her face and said "So you weren't coming, eh?" To my embarrassment it wasn't my sister at all but a mere stranger who had a white pique hat with a little brim just like my sister's. So I embarrassingly apologized, my face blood red, I suppose, and offered to help her fix up and was thankful to find out she was a good-natured kid and we both laughed at what happened.

Train RCMP As Midwives

EDMONTON (BUP)—Twenty-one tough veterans of the RCMP are taking a first aid training course in Edmonton which includes instructions on how to help mothers during childbirth.

Dr. W. L. Falconer, director of the Charles Camell Indian Hospital, said the comprehensive one-week course is believed to be unique for the RCMP.

It includes training in obstetrics, dental work and how to give injections of penicillin and other life-saving drugs. The Mounties also will learn how to accurately report patients' symptoms so that doctors contacted by radio can diagnose ailments and prescribe the proper treatment.

The Mounties are learning how to cope with emergencies which may arise when they leave later this month for isolated RCMP posts in the Yukon, Northwest Territories and Arctic in the annual change-over of personnel.

His health wasn't any too good, so the Eastern city-dweller went looking for a place to live. In one small town in Arizona, he approached an old timer sitting on the steps of the general store.

Easterer: "Say, what's the death rate around here?"

Old man: "Same as it is back East, bub, one to a person."

Bring Clue From Wreck

EDMONTON (BUP) — RCAF ground searchers are returning from the Rocky Mountain "graveyard of lost planes" with a clue which might unravel the mystery of the wreckage of at least one plane.

Members of the six-man search party, under Flt.-Lt. Don Blunderfield of Okotoks, were expected to arrive in Edmonton soon with part of instrument panel of a wrecked Stinson plane with which they hoped to establish its identity.

They discovered the wreckage last week, about 200 miles north of Edmonton, on the rugged Porcupine River. No bodies were found.

About 28 miles west of the crash, an RCAF reconnaissance plane found the wreckage of another plane. The ground party was unable to reach it because the Porcupine River was turbulent from melting mountain snow.

The second plane, believed a Cessna, was thought to have belonged to two hunters who were found wandering through dense bush and timberland in August, 1946. They were taken out by horse.

Canadian Taxes

Nobody likes to pay taxes. However, it is usually conceded that the income tax is the fairest of any taxes we have, and the Canadian income tax is kindest to those in the low income brackets.

In Canada, a married man with an income of $4,000 pays $380; in the United States, $538; and in the United Kingdom, $980. But a married man with two children and a salary of $50,000, would pay an income tax in Canada of $23,574, and the United States, $20,428.

There is one other advantage to Canadians, those with children receiving Family Allowances.

The Social Credit Members in Ottawa still claim that all taxes are unnecessary. However, people who have lived in Alberta for the last seventeen years would know that municipal and school taxes have trebled in this province under the Social Credit administration. Even taxes on gasoline have increased 4c a gallon since 1935.

How It Happened

Austin Dewar, Liberal Member for Qu'Appelle, who has been the subject of much discussion recently in the Press, gave an explanation in the House of Commons of his dealing with Harvey Lunam of the Lunam Construction Co.

He told how Lunam years ago lent him money to buy a hotel which he had later sold at a very substantial profit. In 1948, Lunam got into financial difficulties and he (Dewar) had given him his cheque to cover an overdraft. Lunam later paid him back in the same way by cheque. This method of financing was done on several occasions between 1948 and 1951, with no profit on either side. The term for such dealing is "kiting". It involves the rotating of cheques so as to take advantage of the bank's time lag in clearing them, and is, in effect, a short-term no-interest loan.

After making his explanation to Parliament, Mr. Dewar handed in his resignation and announced he will be a candidate in the next Federal election.

Sinkless Bathing Suit

A British business man said recently that a swim suit would soon appear on the American market which would be unsinkable. The secret is a so-called "breathing-fabric" which is sewed inside the swimming suit.

The British manufacturer, Mark Shaw, says the suit has been selling well in England and that it has recently been introduced in Canada. He has assigned the rights to an American company to manufacture similar suits for children. He describes the suit as having no effect on surface swimming, except to give the swimmer better speed, though he admits it makes underwater swimming difficult.

The suit supposedly will enable children to learn to swim in a short time and be valuable as a safety factor. The breathing fabric is actually tightly-woven cotton cloth, known as "Ventile," in the trade, originally developed by the British Government. A small, thin piece of this fabric is sewed inside the suit and provides the bouyancy.

We can't help but wonder if the modern Bikini contains enough sewing area to make the average young thing unsinkable. If Mr. Shaw's handkerchief-thin "breathing fabric" sewed inside these Bikinis can float a human indefinitely, as claimed, it is an outstanding development.

Famous Alberta Chief

By F. W. GERSHAW

Men of wide experience in dealing with many nations in different countries have said that "Crow-foot" was the most outstanding and interesting Indian they had ever met. He was more like a king than a chief as he walked on the plains with a majestic stride.

He always dressed in magnificent robes. They were of leather and the leather was tanned and treated until it was pure white in color and as rich and soft as ermine. There was always much beadwork on it and there was a gorgeous drawing of the sun worked on the front of it. The back and edges were decorated with many artistic designs. The chaps were beautifully decorated at the bottoms and fringed along the sides. His moccasins were always colorful. He wore a large white hat bound with large eagle feathers.

Royally clothed, as he always was, it was in himself that the kingly qualities were most apparent. His face was extraordinarily like the pictures we have of the classical features of Julius Caesar. He had a high forehead, a large, equiline nose and thin lips that were usually closed. He had keen, grey eyes and every feature was finely moulded. His every gesture was eloquent and his very presence suggested the Warrior, the Commander, and the Counsellor.

He was born, he lived and he died a wild Indian. He never tried to learn the English language and, when he lay on his deathbed, there were 27 of the Medicine Men of the Confederacy around him. He never despised or doubted their magic. When it was clear that his last moments had come and death was near, they ceased their long, continued howling drumming and fantastic motions. Death was left, as was the custom, to take its own. Then it was that one of the watchful, zealous priests slipped into the great tepee and administered the last sacrament to the great chief than in extremus.

The memory of the appearance of this great man who was the greatest chieftan of his race never grew dim in the minds of those who knew him. Long after he was gone, they recall seeing him walking over the plains, crushing the wild grass with his gaudy moccasins, holding his head, and shoulders erect, with his eyes on the distant hills.

No one ever questioned his right to be the supreme chief of the most powerful and warlike tribe of the north, as well as the acknowledged and respected leader of several allied tribes. He and his warriors ruled a strange empire in the ancient solitudes of the Canadian wilderness for many years.

When he talked, he made laws. When he spoke, his nation listened in silence. When he was dying, a great hush fell over the whole encampment. Even in death, his wish was law.

He had killed as many men as any Indian warrior of his time. He was a mighty buffalo slayer. He was torn in flesh, scarred in skin, limb and bone, but he did not stoop and his shadow never grew less.

It was only natural that, not only his horse but his gun, his blankets, his rich robes and plenty of food to last him to the "Happy Hunting Grounds" were buried with him.

How To Stay Young

Two doctors advise that vitamin B-6 may be the answer to hardening of the arteries and other aging processes of the body. Drs. James S. Rinehart and L. D. Greensburg, pathologists at the University of California Hospital, recently found evidence indicating that vitamin B-6 may hold much promise in slowing up the aging process.

Monkeys fed only chemical pill diets—when deprived of vitamin B-6—developed signs like those of hardening of the arteries. They seemed to grow old more quickly, and their hair turned gray.

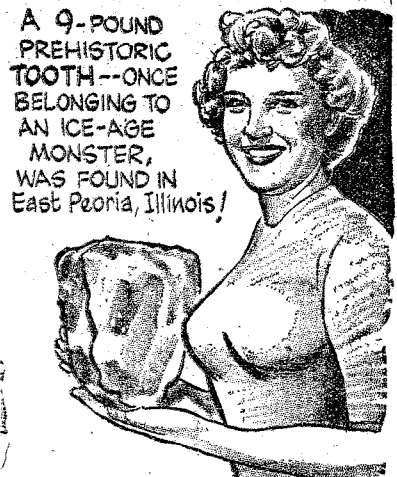

It was found that if B-6 was added to their food soon enough, the aging apparently was checked. The question whether the hardening of human arteries may be connected with a deficiency of vitamin B-6 is being studied.

Meanwhile, beans and peas are said to be rich in vitamin, as well as meat. We suggest the women wait for confirmation and further research reports before reorientating their diets, although the evidence justifies some hope in the battle against growing old.

Men Of Valor

A woman enter a medical college! It simply was not done! But Elizabeth Blackwell did it. It was unwomanly, it was indecent! When finally she persuaded the Geneva Medical College in New York to admit her, she had to live down the suspicion that she must be a woman of bad character. She overheard the exclamation, "Brazen. I call it, and utterly shameless." But she stuck to it and received the first M.D. ever given to a woman.

NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH by Russ Arnold

Voice of the People

END OF A MIRACLE

Never since Moses parted the waters of the Red Sea to provide dry land for the children of Israel to march across, was there such a miracle of road building as in this district.

A Mr. Cooper commanded his obedient servants and dry grades made race courses for speeding motorists oblivious of the swamp and muskeg on either side. Several years of drouth had kept the natural water levels below normal and so the Red Sea miracle of Moses was re-enacted year after year on the Lac la Biche to Spedden Road.

But now things are different. Consistent waterfall has shown up the one gravel road our local MLA has managed to wangle from his reluctant government to be nothing but an automobile trap. School buses are tied up. Sixty children or more are getting an unscheduled holiday, which has lasted for weeks and may last that many longer. The merchants of Rich Lake forget their differences and feuds, are huddled in conference.

Trustees at the local level, desperately inquire into the cost and use of helicopters, for school bus transit. Saddle horses, long forgotten in the limbo of ancient history are tied to hitch racks in front of stores and the post office.

The only exception to stranded motorists is an invention of Roy Makie. The motor has the sound of a dozen high tension wires, a sub-machine gun, but it goes. Four rubber wheels and a seat for the driver and one passenger. It is named a "Hellio-Popper." An emergency illness of one of the neighbors brought this machine into use.

But most of us have only ordinary cars and trucks. So not having passable roads we can't travel. The Social Credit miracle didn't repeat this year, and we can't go anywhere.

SPEAKING OF PARENTS

I disagree with people who favor children addressing their parents by their given names. I call my mother Mom, and have just learned the thrill of being called Mom by my young daughter. I suspect some women of wanting to be called by name because they do not want to feel old enough to be mothers, so they try to act like sisters to their children.

FARM JOB OPEN

For the information of Voicer F. A. S. who thinks we farmers never had it so good, the present trend of our farm economy is down. Come up north, mister, and spend the summer in a Peace River wheatfield. Then next winter try feeding the cattle and in the spring carry baby calves out of snow banks in zero weather. Then, if you still think the farm's for you, you can buy ours and settle down for the nice soft life we've been enjoying for twenty years.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I am a woman of sixty and glad of it. I am writing this letter because some of the women I know dread the idea of growing old. They haunt the beauty parlors and dye their hair and starve themselves because they feel that they will never be able to attract anyone when youth is gone.

How silly they are to worry about something they can't prevent and how much more popular and attractive they would be if they would spend their time doing interesting things and going places instead of putting wrinkles in their faces with worry.

I have reached the stage where I want to look my best but not because I am trying to attract a man. I want both men and women to think I am nice looking, well-groomed and nicely dressed but I don't care a hoot about catching a husband. In fact, I am so pleasantly situated with friends and children that I am happy to be living as I am.

If I don't want to do things that people ask me to do I can always plead my age to get out of doing them and yet I am young enough to do anything I wish.

None of my young friends mind my monopolizing their husbands at parties because they know I am romantically harmless. Which suits me just fine — because I can select my company without causing any side remarks or ugly looks.

So you see there are plenty of compensations to the girls that are getting along in years if they only have the sense to take advantage of them.

Please publish this so that some of my dumb friends may read it.

Widow — Tenn.

Answer:

Well, my dear, you do seem to have adjusted yourself to your situation very well indeed. It is a pity that more of your sisters cannot realize that a happy life is not caused by outward beauty as much as it is by an inner glow. The cheerful woman who is sympathetic and thoughtful and loving will find that those things remain when the golden hair and beautiful skin has begun to fade.

There are so many things in the world to enjoy that it is a shame that so many women have a one-track mind when it comes to estimating values.

Strike Over, First Grain Vessel Leaves

VANCOUVER — The first cargo of grain to clear the Vancouver port since the 80-day grain workers strike was settled, left aboard the British vessel Trevider last week.

The 354,000 bushel cargo is destined for India, part of a 12,000,000 bushel order half-shipped when the strike started.

The Trevider was loaded at the Alberta Wheat Pool terminal elevator.

Trade Fair Exhibits Dunked In Harbor

TORONTO — Three tons of European exhibits destined for the Canadian International Trade Fair are drying out after a dunking in Toronto harbor. A huge crate containing baby grand pianos, oil paintings, and even Christmas cards, fell into the harbor when it was being unloaded. Then a power crane lifted the case out but slammed it against the pier. The bottom fell out and thousands of dollars of exhibits disappeared with a splash. A diver was called in to help retrieve them.

Ratepayers Want Sewer and Water Additions

ATHABASCA — On Monday, May 11th, the ratepayers of Athabasca voted decisively in favor of further additions to the present sewer and water facilities. It is hoped that work will get underway in the near future on the installation of these improvements. Plans are now being formulated to complete the details necessary before construction can begin.

Council met again on Monday to complete the unfinished business from the week previous. Mr. Godel was present from the Board of Trade to assist Council in setting up the date for Cemetery day, which will be on June 18th this year.

Considerable discussion took place regarding the lane area behind the creamery which has been a difficult section to maintain. It was decided to close this exit and use the area temporarily for a machinery parking lot.

After dealing with the file and the accounts, Council adjourned.

Gopher Control Needed Now

By J. S. LORE

District Agriculturist

Gophers do a large amount of damage to young growing crops and gardens, especially around the edges of fields. This area is not heavily infested yet, but if control is not attempted now they can be serious in a year or two. An ounce of precaution is worth a pound of cure, so therefore, small amount of work now can save several bushels of grain, for harvest, and cut down the menace in future years.

Gopher poison can be bought at most stores, mixed with grain as directed, and with a few hours' work will cut down your losses by these pests a great deal. Do not spread the poison where livestock have access to it. Best results will be obtained by spreading the poison before 10 a.m. on a warm, sunny day, as that is when the gophers do most of their feeding.

Another method is to put the poisoned grain under board shelters. The shelters are made by nailing two boards together to form a V-shape. They should be about thirty inches long. This shelter will keep the poison fresh longer, and when staked to the ground will keep livestock from picking up the poisoned grain.

A pig sent to the Veterinary Laboratory at Lethbridge from the Flamondon district, was diagnosed as rabies. The pig died on April 28, and the first symptoms appeared on April 27. A fox suspected of rabies was killed in the barn of the owner about March 1.

You never saw a PROPANE BURNER

The Iron Fireman radiant propane burner produces radiant heat at the grate-like level, just as does the glowing coal fire for which your coal furnace was designed.

If your furnace is in good condition you need not waste money on a new one to get automatic PROPANE heat. This Iron Fireman propane burner (made in Canada) is specifically engineered for converting coal furnaces to propane firing. How? By surrounding the nonradiant blue gas flame with a combustion chamber of very light, porous refractory which heats to a state of incandescence in a few seconds and glows like a gas mantle. Its heat is radiant like a bed of glowing coals. You can switch to PROPANE automatic heat within a few hours. Complete Iron Fireman furnaces with the radiant propane burner built in are also available. ASK your local propane distributor about the efficiency of the Iron Fireman propane burner. ASK about the big fuel savings enjoyed by users. ASK about the years of trouble-free service that makes Iron Fireman the BIG BUY in propane heating.

Iron Fireman Radiant Propane Burners are made in Canada

Army Camp Milk Supply Changed

OTTAWA — Warwagat army camp changed some of its milk suppliers because the milk was found to have high bacteriological content and because the camps wanted milk in cardboard containers rather than in bulk. John Dickey, parliamentary assistant said.

He was replying to Robert Fair (SC-Battle River) who said local producers had lost the business to an outsider.

Grain Quotas Won't Change

OTTAWA (BUP) — Delivery quotas for western grain growers will remain unchanged for the rest of the current crop year. Trade Minister C. D. Howe indicated in the Commons Friday.

He told the House the total for the 1952-53 crop year was now estimated at $30,000,000 bushels, including wheat, oats, barley, flax seed and rye. Of this amount all have been delivered.

In order to find space for the remaining grain yet to be marketed in the nation's elevators, Howe said "it looks as if the present quotas will be the limit of our delivery quotas for the present crop year."

At present grain elevators are authorized to accept delivery from western farmers equal to 18 bushels for each acre seeded. The basic quota was set at 15 bushels and three bushels per acre were added.

MODERN BUILDINGS help to cut PRODUCTION COSTS

With higher farm wages and labour in short supply, more and more attention is being paid to designing farm buildings which will save work, increase production, and promote better health of livestock and poultry.

Your farm may require new construction or alteration of your present structures to get best results. With the many new developments in both building design and construction materials, it will be worthwhile to obtain expert advice on the layout and materials which will best serve your needs.

Another problem which arises with such projects is finance. Imperial Bank is always interested in helping farmers who wish to do a better job, and Farm Improvement Loans are designed to help farmers who wish to modernize their buildings, and to keep them in good repair.

Farm Improvement Loans can be obtained for as much as 80% of the cost of the building project. Amounts up to $4,000 are available at a simple interest rate of 5%, repayable in periods up to seven years.

Your local Imperial Bank Manager will be glad to explain the details of Farm Improvement Loans and to discuss your financial requirements. Drop in to see him.

Who would prefer Propane Gas in the home as compared with wood?

(WHAT A FOOLISH QUESTION). We all know that we'd like the gas much rather than wood for cooking. It makes the household tasks so much simpler and makes housekeeping a real joy. This is especially true for Mother who finds so many other chores around the home apart from cooking. Consider this and enquire more fully about Propane ... the modern way of house-keeping.
